

YOU NEVER CAN TELL WHEN SOMETHING 'LL COME UP.

The Markets*WALL STREET.

The unexpected change in the attitude of Turkey and the resultant weakness of European markets constituted the chief influence in trading here. London and the continental markets were sellers here when business began, but reversed their attitude later and took back some stocks. International shares were the weakest, but professional selling soon cut and there was an irregular recovery which brought the leaders to within trading distances of yesterday's close.

The oilman was not long maintained, however. A break of 3½ points in Illinois Central, which was attributed to misgivings as to the maintenance of its dividend, underlined the market and prices fell back to the five point.

Bonds were steady.

Union Pacific gave way 2 points when Illinois Central broke to 151, on the fear that the income from the road's $22,000,000 holdings of Illinois Central stock would be materially reduced if the dividend was cut after midday and there was a slow recovery returning to about a point in some instances. Illinois Central rallied 1 point.

Prices however, though midway between yesterday's close and the low of the morning. The trend was upward, the evident support which the market received earlier indicating some of the shorts to buy stocks. Forecasts of the currency movement indicate a slight gain in the bonds, the interior receipts being sufficient to offset the loss by gold exports and sub-treasury operations.

The market closed, steady. Late operations were broken by sporadic selling of the important shares and a bear drive against Can which drove it to 31½.

Earlier low prices were duplicated in some instances, but the pressure was of brief duration and the market made some recovery when selling by 10.

Closing prices:

- Anatolian, 71½.
- Sugar, 12½.
- Athens, 184½.
- Northern Pacific, 118½.
- Reading, 164½.
- Southern Pacific, 165½.
- Union Pacific, 158½.
- Steel, 32½.
- Steel preferred, 198½.
